

High quality child care looks like

FOCUS.

This is her favorite book – the one she wants her teacher to read over and over. She can't actually read it yet, but she can tell it page by page.

The teacher asks questions as she shares the story. "What color is this?" "How many birds do you see?" The little girl learns something new with every reading.

Young children develop at an amazing rate. Their brains are making connections that last a lifetime.

Quality caregivers are trained to make the most of every moment of the day. They know every word and activity is a lesson.
